

You won't be able to say no to Ursula
A laptop bag that's fashionably hot and deliciously cool

Bellingham, Washington (March 1, 2006) – You take pride in your appearance so why not choose a laptop bag that reflects your spirit and still shows you mean business?

Why carry around your laptop in a bag that has the word average written all over it? You're not that kind of (Bond) girl. You want a bag that portrays the individual you are; you want a bag that's sassy and different.

Styled from the finest materials, Ursula will keep your computer safe and keep you looking stylish. With its strong microfiber nylon exterior, tangerine nylon interior and interchangeable colored belts (to reflect the season's hues or your particular outfit), Ursula makes a bold statement and is quite striking. And Ursula is elegant and spacious... thanks to front and back slip pockets for all those things you need in a hurry.

So, if you think it's about time you dumped that boring old laptop bag and glammed it up with something that is every bit as stylish and confident as you, then visit www.gudibags.com for more information. Ursula retails for $289 – a small price to pay to show you mean business.
